Plibrico Continues Expansion Into Canadian Refractory Market

Plibrico Company, LLC

Plibrico Company, LLC is pleased to announce the addition of Quadra Industrial Services to Plibrico's preferred exclusive network of refractory contractors. Operating from its headquarters in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and construction office in St. Johns, New Brunswick, Quadra Industrial Services will be the exclusive Plibrico PliPartner for the Atlantic Canada region—Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Labrador, Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland.

"Since 2002, Quadra Industrial Services has been a leading refractory contractor in Canada," states James Eckert, President of Plibrico Company. "We welcome their addition to our PliPartner network of refractory contractors. This new partnership will not only expand our reach into the Canadian refractory market, but will also allow us to better serve our customers in those regions."

Quadra Industrial Services is a division of Envirosystems Inc., a leading supplier of environmental management solutions.

Plibrico Company LLC is a leading manufacturer and installer of superior aluminosilicate and high alumina monolithic refractories used in a variety of demanding thermal applications. For almost a century, Plibrico has focused on the research and development of complete turnkey refractory solutions. Headquartered in Chicago, Illinois, Plibrico has refractory construction contractors located throughout the United States, and supplies refractory materials worldwide through our group of distributors and exporters.
