

Subaru Hiring 100 At Ind. Plant On Rising Demand

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — A Subaru assembly plant in central Indiana plans to add 100 full-time production jobs to its work force over the next six months.

Subaru of Indiana Automotive says the new full-time workers will come from among its current temporary employees at the factory near Lafayette.

The Courier & Journal reports the factory now has nearly 3,300 workers and that the company has increased production because of greater demand for the Subaru Legacy and Subaru Outback models made at the plant.

Subaru officials say the factory is expected to produce more than 250,000 vehicles during 2010 — a 30 percent increase from last year.
