NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam said a company that makes fuel systems for automotive and other manufacturers is investing $5 million in its Gallatin plant to expand and add 114 new jobs.

The Tennessee Economic and Community Development Commission said in a news release Tuesday that ABC Group Fuel Systems is investing $5 million in the plant expansion, and the added jobs will be a combination of full-time production and maintenance positions.

ABC Group Fuel Systems is a subsidiary of ABC Group of Companies, headquartered in Toronto. The company has three facilities in Gallatin employing 303 people and has had a presence in Tennessee since 1987.
