EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Federal prosecutors say a woman who was on the management team of a Lebanon company has been sentenced to two years in prison for embezzling $848,000 from it.

The U.S. attorney's office said Thursday that 42-year-old Rhonda Milligan was also ordered to pay back the money she took from Entek Manufacturing from 2005 through 2011.

Prosecutors and court documents said Milligan made more than $540,000 in payments through an online system to pay her personal credit card expenses and diverted another $293,000 by forging the name of Entek's president on checks.

They said she also skimmed from the petty cash fund and cut checks for cash to herself.
