

ESD-Protective Labels

Desco (Chino, CA) is introducing ESD Susceptibility Labels (2" x 2") in a new Integrated Dispenser, which can be used to identify assemblies and devices that have sensitivity to ESD events. They are ideal for closing shielding bags and seal ESD-protective packaging, according to the company. Other features include:

- A dispenser that is made with groundable static dissipative material.
- 1,000 labels per roll.
