Collect Weld Fumes

United Air Specialists, Inc. announces the W Series of weld fume collectors, which are available in portable (WP model) and wall-mount (WS model) configurations. The collectors effectively capture weld fumes at the source of the welding process with obstruction-free extraction arms. Once inside the system, contaminants are sent through a spark trap and captured within a fire-retardant Protura Nanofiber cartridge filter. According to the company, W Series collectors are easy to operate and clean. They are powered with a one-touch button, and the filter changes require no tools.
