

Better Welding Helmets

Kimberly-Clark Professional's Jackson Safety brand has updated its line of passive welding helmets to incorporate models with fixed-shade and variable auto-darkening visors. At the top of the line is the W-60 series, a multi-functional auto-darkening helmet that operates on a digital platform. In addition, all the models with auto-darkening filters provide welders with the correct safety plates, to accommodate long-term performance and ANSI-compliant repairs. Other models have received better parts or new graphic styles.
